Britain Gives Arabs Plan for Palestine; Final Details Secret

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The British government delivered its compromise plan for Palestine to Arab leaders tonight and Emile Ghoury, a Palestine Arab representative, said that if the proposal resulted in the entry of one more Jew into Palestine "it will mean war."

The compromise plan apparently was not delivered to Jewish representatives here tonight.

Jamal Hussein, leader of the Palestine Arab delegation, said he and his colleagues had decided not to look at the proposal until tomorrow morning because "I'm sure it would ruin our night's rest."

Hussein's statement indicated he took some stock in earlier reports from informed Whitehall sources that the new formula called for the immediate movement of 100,000 Jews from Europe's displaced persons camps into a Jewish area of federated Palestine.

Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones summoned Moshe Shertok, the Jewish agency's political chief, to an unscheduled conference tonight to discuss the present situation in Palestine.

British sources said Creech Jones warned Shertok that the army in Palestine "would take the initiative" if any serious violence followed announcement of the British proposals.

The compromise was proposed to the cabinet by Creech Jones, who wanted no restrictions on the number of Jews that could be permitted in a Jewish area, and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who feared an Arab "Holy War" against the British if unrestricted immigration were permitted.

More than ten months ago the American-British committee of inquiry into Palestine recommended that 100,000 Jews be admitted at once to the Holy Land. Bevin, in rejecting that recommendation, said it would be necessary to put another division of troops in Palestine if immigration bars were dropped.

During the day private attorneys here announced plans for an appeal by David Greener, convicted Palestine underground youth, a step which might have the effect of staying one element in an explosive situation. Palestine reports had said unless an appeal were made, Greener might be executed Tuesday.

The Arabs have been steadfast in their opposition to any additional immigration of Jews into the Holy Land, and the informants predicted that the talks between the British and Arabs would end immediately if the cabinet adopts a plan embracing (Continued on Last Page)

Legion Plans Honors Upon Transfer of War Dead Here

Anticipating the transfer of some of Pottstown's dead of World War II from their foreign resting places to local cemeteries, George A. Amole, American Legion Post 47, here tonight initiated plans for several funeral services which would pay them military honors.

At the post's regular semi-monthly meeting in the Legion home it was decided that more than one funeral crew would be needed when the bodies start returning since more than one burial may be made in Pottstown on one day.

Reports were heard from Walter S. Hurt, secretary of the Legion sponsored Boy Scout troop 1, Clarence R. Fox, chairman of the executive committee and William Yohn, chairman of the entertainment committee.

A report by the membership committee revealed that the number of paid members in the local post for this year totals 1668. The post admitted 29 World War II veterans into membership last night.

Norman L. John, service officer, described the work done by the service officers of the club every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights from 7:30 to 10 o'clock in the Legion home.

John also outlined the process of converting government life insurance and described the four methods by which that insurance can be paid to beneficiaries.

Movies taken at Iwo Jima and New Britain isles during the recent war were shown following the meeting. Clarence H. Grimes, commander of the post, presided.

STASSEN SEEKS SECRET VOTING IN STRIKE ISSUE

GOP Presidential Timber Offers 10-Point Plan To Insure Labor Peace

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, who frankly seeks the Republican nomination for President, came up today with a proposal to require secret strike votes and walked into a rebuttal from Republican Senators Taft of Ohio and Ball of Minnesota.

Snapped Taft: "That proposal is trivial as far as a final solution of the problem is concerned."

Stassen had urged, in Senate labor committee hearings on labor legislation, that any strike be prohibited unless a majority of all employees voted to strike in a secret-ballot election held at the end of negotiations.

"I have no confidence," said Taft, "that the men are going to take a different position from their leadership, that is, in 99 out of 100 cases."

Ball said the proposal was "an extremely drastic restriction on the right to strike—further than I would go."

Taft is regarded as a leading possibility for the presidential nomination which Stassen wants. He is chairman of the labor committee.

Ball first became a senator when Stassen appointed him. That was in 1940, when Stassen was governor of Minnesota.

Stassen had brisk words with both men in today's hearing. But Senator Morse (R-Ore.) spoke up and said some of Stassen's testimony "thrilled me." And at the end, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) praised Stassen for "general fairness."

Stassen suggested ten steps to eliminate what he called "abuses of power" by union leaders.

He criticized two bills by Ball to outlaw industry-wide bargaining and various forms of the closed shop. Stassen and Ball differed (Continued on Last Page)

Thompson Is Declared Governor Of Georgia in Court Decision

ATLANTA, Feb. 7 (AP)—Lieut. Governor M. E. Thompson was declared Georgia's legal chief executive today in the first court decision directly involving the State's controverted governorship, but Herman Talmadge was not ordered to relinquish the office.

The decision, by Superior Judge Claude H. Porter, came on a plea by Thompson that members of the State pardon and parole board be forced to turn over to him budget information. Judge Porter ordered the information given Thompson as "acting governor."

In his written order, however, Judge Porter said the State legislature had no power under the State constitution to elect Talmadge governor, and that Thompson became acting governor upon the resignation of Ellis Arnall.

Attorneys for the parole board announced immediately the decision would be appealed to the State supreme court. A superior court in Georgia corresponds to a Federal district court.

Judge Porter's action at Rome in north Georgia came as a surprise while principal interest was concentrated on the little courthouse at McDonough, Ga., 40 miles south of Atlanta, where Superior Judge Walter Hendrix was hearing a plea by Thompson for the courts to bar Talmadge from office.

Low Temperatures Seen for Weekend

Throw another log on the fire... it's going to be mighty cold this weekend.

The snow that began to fall in Pottstown shortly before 9 o'clock last night, and the sharp dips in temperature that followed, are expected by the weatherman to be forerunners of the cold air mass which yesterday was raking the Midwest with ice, snow and destructive winds.

This mass was expected to hit Pottstown early today.

Abnormally cold weather is forecast for this area during the next three days at least. Today and tomorrow Pottstowners seemed destined to be plagued by wind and cold.

Although one snow fall started and culminated within the past 24 hours, and an even heavier one began, yesterday's temperatures were comparatively high with an average in the low 30s. Top mark for the day was reached at 5 p. m., when the thermometer recorded 39 degrees.

Tax Value Appeals To Be Heard Monday

Appeals on re-assessments of property values by Burgess William A. Griffith's equalization of assessments committee will be heard on Monday from 9 to 3 o'clock at the Montgomery county Board of Assessments and Revisions in the county courthouse in Norristown.

Burgess Griffith's committee, headed by J. Max Cresswell, was appointed late last year to re-assess and equalize property values in Pottstown. Due to the late appointment, and lack of time prior to the date that assessed valuations had to be submitted for the year, the committee was able to re-assess only High street properties. The greater majority of these properties was studied, however, and property assessments were equalized.

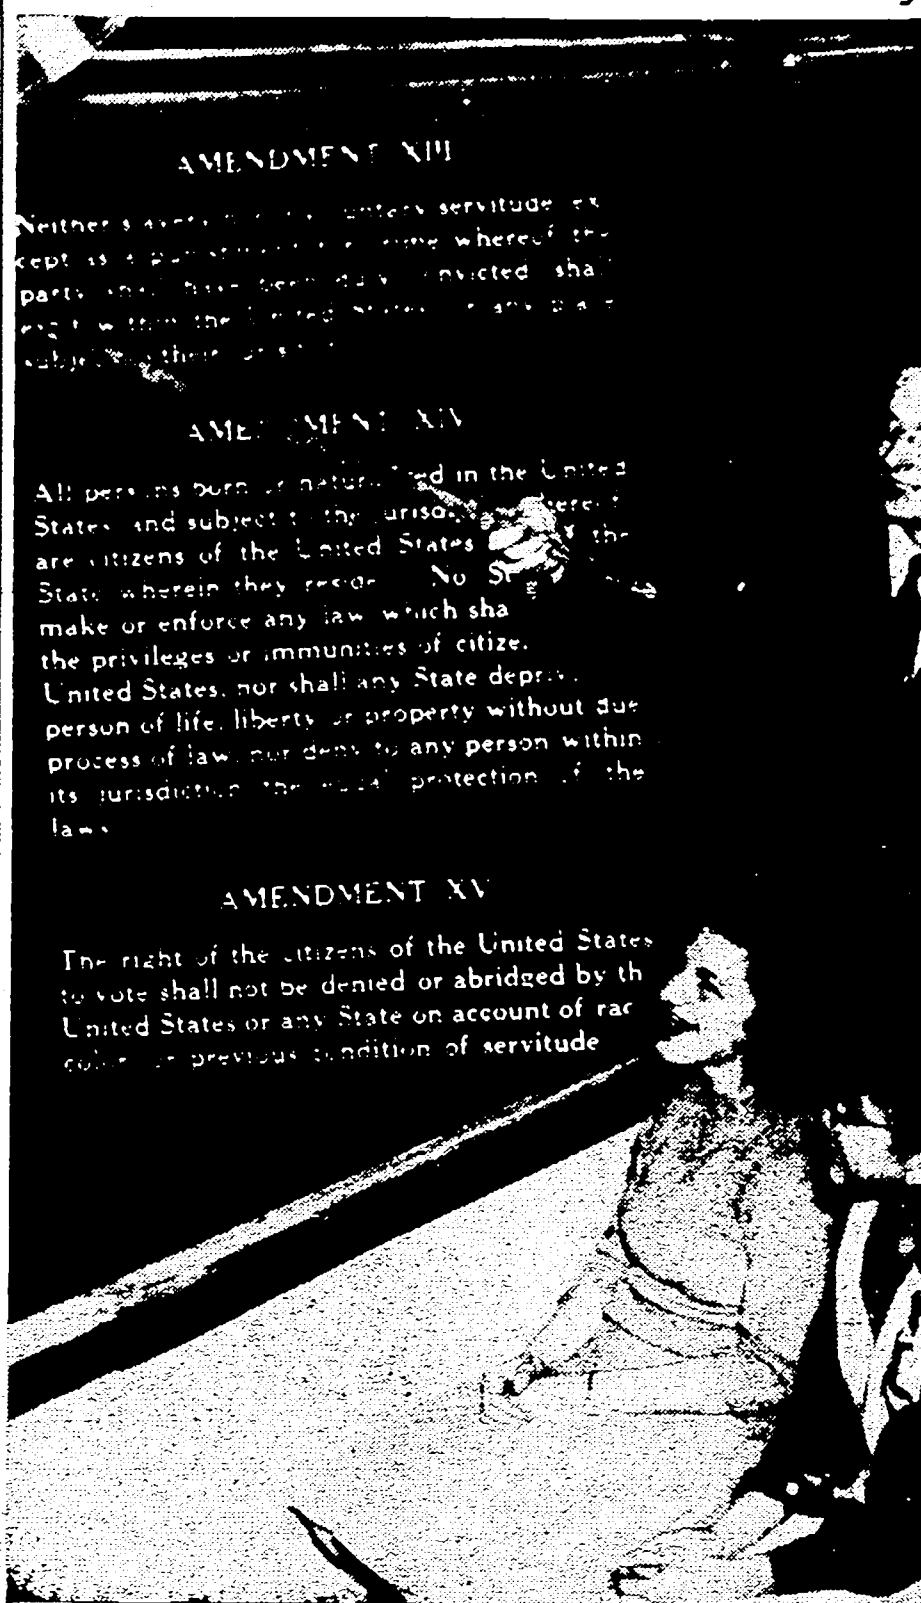

"This year," a committee member stated, "we will finish our equalization of business and residential property values."

Unofficial estimates of the re-assessments amount to $1,600,000. Members of the equalization committee will be on hand at the hearings Monday as will Paul J. Musser, Pottstown PAC representative.

The idea of Brotherhood Week was suggested to the Conference in 1932 by a Roman Catholic priest, the Right Rev. Msgr. Hugh L. McMenamin, of Denver, Col. Since its inception it has been endorsed everywhere by clergymen, statesmen, civic leaders and good citizens of all faiths.

Its purposes are to reduce prejudice among Protestants, Catholics, Jews, Negroes and other groups. (Continued on Page Five)

Marshall Advocates Training Program to Back Foreign Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—In his first major policy declaration as secretary of state, Gen. George C. Marshall today called for universal military training to back up American foreign policy with real armed power.

He said there can be no disarmament until effective international security is worked out through the United Nations based on "solutions acceptable to the great powers of the tremendous issues" involved.

Furthermore, Marshall virtually declared a great counter-campaign of truth against Russian propaganda. He did not actually identify the propaganda as Russian, but other State department leaders have been assailing Soviet propaganda.

Backing up the international broadcasting program of assistant secretary of state William Benton, Marshall said that somehow the United States has to build up a credit for truth and accuracy in the world and that truth has to be made to prevail against what he called the riot of propaganda.

Marshall, who took office Jan. 21, held a news conference in the State department's largest conference room. At times he lapsed into military lingo as when he opened his discussion by explaining that he did not intend to answer questions about the European theater. The room, a product of 19th Century over-decoration, had gold trimmings, marble panels, tan walls, and four bronze angels bearing lights, two of which flanked Marshall.

3 to 8 Cent Jump In Butter Prices Is Registered Here

Weekend shoppers will find butter prices advanced anywhere from three to eight cents a pound over last weekend's prices as the dairy butter market continued to vary.

One local grocer, Harold Miller, guessed that the rise during the past week was due to the cold wave which has just swept across the nation.

"When a cow gets cold, she doesn't give much milk," he explained. "And when there's no milk, there's no butter."

No local groceryman would hazard a guess on the future fluctuation of the butter market but all agreed that the recent rise did no harm to sales.

There was generally a two-cent difference between quartered and whole pounds and the average top price for quartered pounds was 77 cents.

I. B. Leaman, manager of a High street chain store, said his price for quartered pounds was 77 cents and 75 cents for whole pounds. These marks had come up from (Continued on Page Five)

Elks Entertained At Show, Supper

In the spirit of hilarity and good-fellowship, kindled by the sparks which burned their mortgage "redskins" to ash, more than 350 members of the Elks club enjoyed a full two and a half hours of entertainment, and the buffet supper which followed, last night in the lodge home.

The main banquet hall was alive with the tapping of dancing feet, the clatter of juggling pins and the mirth of the comedians as the Elks watched the professional floor show presented for their pleasure by the entertainment committee under the chairmanship of Frank B. Christman.

The stag party was the second event arranged by the mortgage burning committee to celebrate the local club's 45th anniversary, and the full payment of more than $60,000 in indebtedness.

Visiting Elks from the Southeastern district and from Lyndhurst, N. J., were on hand to help the Pottstown members celebrate. Following the party all those attending retired to the club's first floor where food and drink were distributed without charge.

Taxi Passenger Punches Driver, Lands in Jail

Rudolph Hudick, driver for Hays Brothers Taxi company, was in the hospital with a possible broken nose and Frederick Matthews, of 858 South street, was held by police on two charges last night after an altercation between the two on West High street.

Hudick, who was driving Matthews and two women companions to a West High street taproom last night just before 10 o'clock, stated that he brought the cabs to a halt and alighted on his side of the vehicle.

One of the women, who was riding in the front seat with him, he said, started to get out of the same side when the door slammed shut. Matthews, apparently taking offense at this, came around from the rear of the car and punched him in the nose, he asserted.

Korea's U. N. Representative to Speak At Town Hall Meeting Here on Feb. 24

On Monday, Feb. 24, Miss Louise Yim, Korean representative to the United Nations and the first woman to ever speak at a Town Hall meeting, will be the guest speaker of Pottstown's Town Hall.

One of the most outstanding and assuredly the most interesting and romantic speaker to grace the Town Hall stage, Miss Yim will speak of her country's fight for independence.

Known as the "Joan of Arc of Korea," she has been a leader in the fight for Korean independence since childhood, first from the Japanese, and now from the Russo-American treaty arrangements under the United Nations.

With a history of more than 4000 years of freedom and independence behind it, Korea came under the subjugation of Japan in 1905. The conquest was the climax of a traditional enmity dating from 1592 when Japan invaded Korea, (Continued on Page Five)

Legion Plans Honors Upon Transfer of War Dead Here

A report by the membership committee revealed that the number of paid members in the local post so far this year totals 1668. The post admitted 29 World War II veterans into membership last night.

Norman L. John, service officer, described the work done by the service officers of the club every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights from 7:30 to 10 o'clock in the Legion home.

John also outlined the process of covering government life insurance and described the four methods by which that insurance can be paid to beneficiaries.

Movies taken at Iwo Jima and New Britain isles during the recent war were shown following the meeting. Clarence H. Grimes, commander of the post, presided.

GOP Seen Set on Trimming Truman Budget by 5½ Billion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Republican congressmen working on fiscal problems were reported virtually agreed today on a $5,500,000,000 slash in President Truman's budget. They hope to hold spending in the fiscal year starting July 1 to $37,000,000,000, and they anticipate revenue of $39,000,000,000. This, if realized, would permit an income tax cut of $3,500,000,000 and a payment on the national debt of a like amount.

A number of Republican members of the Senate-House budget committee, meeting in secret, are reported to have agreed tentatively on these estimates. The full committee is to report by Feb. 15.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a committee member, told a reporter he hopes the committee will not set a budget figure so low that it will have to be raised later. He said that while he would like to see expenditures pegged at $37,000,000,000, it might not be possible to do so.

Those mentioning the $37,000,000,000 figure proposed to reach it largely by eliminating more than 550,000 Federal employees for a saving of $1,500,000,000 and trimming $2,000,000,000 off national defense and $1,000,000,000 off public works. Other smaller savings would be calculated to bring the total reductions to $5,500,000,000 below the President's $37,000,000,000 estimates.

Meanwhile the House ways and means committee voted to hold closed hearings on the 20 percent income tax cut starting Feb. 19, bringing a cry of "steamroller tactics" from Rep. Forand (D-RI), a committee member.

"It looks like the public is being denied an opportunity to be heard on the Knutson bill," he commented. "This is steamroller tactics to put that bill through."

The measure by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) proposes a 20 percent "across the board" cut in income taxes.

Moreover, Rep. Engel (R-Mich.) leading a revolt in the Republican ranks against the Knutson measure, declared "This is the height of unfairness." He is supporting legislation to give the most relief to small income taxpayers.

"The public has a right to testify, and the people—especially the small income people—should be permitted to come in and testify," he told newsmen.

The committee voted 15 to 6 to begin consideration of the Knutson measure "and kindred bills" Feb. 19 and to limit the hearings to executive sessions. Government witnesses appearing in the vote 14 Republicans were joined by one Democrat to support the proposition, while six Democrats voted no.

Knutson told reporters "the chances for my bill are good" and predicted tax legislation would be ready for a House vote early in March.

Eisler to Appear in Court Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Gerhard Eisler, described before a congressional committee as the straw boss of Communist activities in the United States, obtained a Federal court order today which will test the validity of his detention by the immigration service.

After hearing a plea by Eisler's attorney, Carol King, that his recent arrest as an enemy alien on a presidential warrant violated the constitution, Judge John Bright granted a writ of habeas corpus directing that Eisler be brought into court next Friday.

Mrs. King challenged the legality of her client's arrest contending that the warrant issued under a proclamation by President Roosevelt for control of enemy aliens was invalid since "the war was declared terminated" the past Dec. 31 by President Truman.

Real purpose of the attorney general's warrant the attorney asserted, was not "the protection of the United States" but to insure Eisler's appearance before the House committee investigating un-American activities.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohery did not oppose issuance of the writ, although he asked that it be made returnable Feb. 17 instead of next Friday. Mrs. King had requested that Eisler be produced immediately.

TRUMAN RULE ON TARIFF CUTS IS PROPOSED

Vandenberg and Millikin Submit Compromise Bill in Reciprocal Trade Row

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two leading Republican senators—Vandenberg of Michigan and Millikin of Colorado—proposed a compromise today in an effort to save the Administration's reciprocal trade program from being riddled by Congress.

Under their plan, President Truman would take upon himself authority to overrule any tariff cuts that damage American industry.

Secretary of State Marshall, at a news conference, said he welcomed the suggestion and would examine it very carefully. He said it indicated the development of a bi-partisan economic foreign policy paralleling the bi-partisan approach to international political affairs.

Vandenberg, foreign relations chairman, and Millikin, chairman of the Republican conference (consisting of all Republican senators), indicated confidence that President Truman will agree to the compromise.

They acted to forestall a move by a number of their GOP colleagues to change the trade program by legislation. Leading House Republicans have signified their intention to try to reclaim some of the broad authority given to the State department.

Under existing law, the department can cut tariffs as much as 50 percent in return for concessions from other nations. Backers of the program fear that if it is ever thrown open to congressional amendments it may be so changed as to be unrecognizable.

In a formal statement, the two Republican senators said their proposal had been discussed with undersecretaries of state Dean Acheson and William Clayton. Specifically, the senators proposed:

1. That the tariff commission be directed to review all proposed concessions and make "direct recommendations" to the President as to the point beyond which reductions and concessions cannot be made without injury to the domestic economy.

The commission would hold public hearings on its own motion, at the request of Congress, the President or "any aggrieved party."

That every future trade agreement include an "escape clause" under which the President could withdraw or modify any tariff order "if in practice it develops that such reduction or concession has imperiled any affected domestic interest."

That procedures be tightened so that nations which do not give reciprocal benefits to the United States shall not share in American tariff cuts through unconditional use of the "most favored nation" clause. (Under this clause, concessions granted to one nation are extended to others also.)

Nothing that the reciprocal trade agreements act does not expire until June 12, 1948. Vandenberg and Millikin said if there are to be any "important basic changes in the system" they could be considered more appropriately by the next session of Congress.

$28,000 in Cash Found Near Highway in Hesse Gem Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two quartas of diamonds and a third quart jar containing $28,000 cash were dug up beside a Virginia highway in the recovery of the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels the Army disclosed today.

The story was told in Federal court at nearby Alexandria, Va., where two civilians challenged the Army's right to subpoena them as witnesses for the court martial of Col. Jack W. Durant, one of the chief defendants in the theft case.

The civilians are James E. Durant, Falls Church, Va., brother of the colonel, and Mrs. Martha Orwig Evans, Arlington, Va., a former United Nations secretary in London.

May Joseph S. Robinson, of the judge advocate general's department, the chief prosecutor, told the court both are wanted to testify at Durant's trial because of statements they signed in connection with the case.

Robinson told newsmen that James Durant's statement dealt with the cache of diamonds and cash found buried in the quart jars beside the Leesburg pike near Falls Church, Mrs. Evans' statement, the prosecutor added, concerned her acquaintance with Col. Durant.

Frank L. Ball Sr., attorney for James Durant and Mrs. Evans moved to quash the subpoenas. He contended a military court cannot subpoena civilians. He also argued that the court martial is without authority after leaving the jurisdiction of the European commander who convened it at Frankfurt, Germany, in December.

Federal Judge Robert N. Pollard reserved a decision until next week, when he will be sitting in Richmond.

American Troops Stay in Southern Korea Until Provisional Government Is Formed

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 7 (AP)—American troops will stay in southern Korea until a provisional government has been established for the entire country, including the Russian-occupied northern half, Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, military governor, declared today in a press statement.

A companion statement by Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding U. S. military forces in southern Korea, reiterated his frequent explanation of the American aim to insure "stable, democratic self government" and national independence for Korea.

The Americans have been stressing this point to Koreans ever since American-Soviet joint commission negotiations broke down the past May.

Lerch's statement was presented as an answer to what he called "irresponsible American columnists and news commentators" who have "persisted in spreading a rumor that United States troops were soon to withdraw from Korea."

Lerch did not identify the persons to whom he referred.

Hodge's statement said recent discussion with Korean leaders indicated that some South Koreans "do not understand completely" the functions of the U. S.-Russian joint commission.

This commission, he said, is intended to put into practical operation the decision of the foreign ministers' council at Moscow in December, 1945, by forming a provisional government for the entire country and helping Korea for up to five years in political, economic and social progress.

A Valentine for Mother!

Such a grubby little valentine—no lace, no satin, no pretty poem! But made it himself, scrawled the message, pasted it crookedly together. It didn't cost much, but what a lift it gives a Mother's heart!

No, it isn't cost alone that counts. It's what a thing does for you. Like electricity, for instance. Dependable electric service is Mother's 365-days-a-year valentine—ready all the time to lift the burden of homemaking, ready to make life easier and happier for her.

And when Mother struggles with her budget, she can't help noticing that electricity is just about the smallest item on her list. While the cost of nearly everything else went up, the price of electricity came down—AND STAYED DOWN. Maybe you don't know it, but the average family in the Philadelphia Electric Company area now gets TWICE AS MUCH ELECTRICITY for its dollar as it did 15 years ago.

Yes, electricity—like Butch's valentine—does a lot for a Mother!

"It looks like the public is being denied an opportunity to be heard on the Knutson bill," he commented. "This is steamroller tactics to put that bill through."

The measure by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) proposes a 20 percent "across the board" cut in income taxes.

Moreover, Rep. Engel (R-Mich), leading a revolt in Republican ranks against the Knutson measure, declared "This is the height of unfairness." He is supporting legislation to give the most relief to small income taxpayers.

"The public has a right to testify, and the people—especially the small income people—should be permitted to come in and testify," he told newsmen.

The committee voted 15 to 6 to begin consideration of the Knutson measure "and kindred bills" Feb. 19 and to limit the hearings to executive sessions with Government witnesses appearing. In the vote 14 Republicans were joined by one Democrat to support the proposition, while six Democrats voted no.

Knutson told reporters "the chances for my bill are good" and predicted tax legislation would be ready for a House vote early in March.

Eisler to Appear In Court Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Gerhardt Eisler, described before a congressional committee as the straw boss of Communist activities in the United States, obtained a Federal court order today which will test the validity of his detention by the immigration service.

After hearing a plea by Eisler's attorney, Carol King, that his recent arrest as an enemy alien on a presidential warrant violated the constitution, Judge John Bright granted a writ of habeas corpus directing that Eisler be brought into court next Friday.

Mrs. King challenged the legality of her client's arrest, contending that the warrant issued under a proclamation by President Roosevelt for control of enemy aliens was invalid since "the war was declared terminated" the past Dec. 31 by President Truman.

Real purpose of the attorney general's warrant, the attorney asserted, was not "the protection of the United States" but to insure Eisler's appearance yesterday before the House committee investigating un-American activities.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohy did not oppose issuance of the writ, although he asked that it be made returnable Feb. 17 instead of next Friday. Mrs. King had requested that Eisler be produced immediately.

British to Curtail Use of Electricity

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The British government announced today that the long-heralded breakdown of the electrical industry was at hand as the result of an unprecedented coal famine, and ordered electric power cut off from factories in the industrial heart of the country beginning Monday.

A board of trade spokesman said 4,000,000 workers would be thrown out of jobs in the industrial paralytic which also affected millions of householders whose electricity also will be cut off for five hours each day.

Judge Picard Ruling In Portal Pay Case Is Expected Today

DETROIT, Feb. 7 (AP)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard's decision in the fateful Mt. Clemens Pottery company portal pay case impended tonight.

With American labor and industry waiting expectantly, Judge Picard was reported hearing completion of his formal ruling which will bear on nearly $5,000,000,000 in portal-to-portal pay suits.

The verdict, virtually certain of being carried to the Supreme court, may be ready for announcement tomorrow.

Judge Picard made no comment, but sources close to him said he was hopeful of having his verdict completed in the morning. He was working on it tonight. Earlier he had said he would have it completed before the weekend if at all possible.

Even as he was getting set to wind up his part in the momentous dispute, Judge Picard received notice of an appeal from his ruling which permitted the Government to become a party to the Mt. Clemens suit.

Attorney Edward Lamb, who represented the pottery workers in the original claim for overtime pay in 1942, moved formally to bring the case back once more to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati.

Legal experts, however, said the maneuver was not expected to cause any delay in the Government's announced determination to place the dispute before the Supreme court.

The Government, interested in view of its billions in cost-plus wartime contracts with industry, secured Judge Picard's permission Thursday to join with industry in the fight against portal pay claims.

Lamb's objection at that time was overruled.

Counsel for the Government said it would seek return of the case to the highest court "as soon as possible," whatever Judge Picard's decision may be.

By order of the Supreme Court, Judge Picard must decide the amount of compensable walking or make-ready time in the case. His original decision for "overtime" was overruled by both the Circuit Court of Appeals and the Supreme court.

Judge Picard, in finding for the workers, gave them seven minutes of overtime. The higher courts found no productive overtime and the Supreme court injected the portal-to-portal question.

TRUMAN RULE ON TARIFF CUTS IS PROPOSED

Vandenberg and Millikin Submit Compromise Bill In Reciprocal Trade Row

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two leading Republican senators—Vandenberg of Michigan and Millikin of Colorado—proposed a compromise today in an effort to save the Administration's reciprocal trade program from being riddled by Congress.

Under their plan, President Truman would take upon himself authority to overrule any tariff cuts that damage American industry.

Secretary of State Marshall, at a news conference, said he welcomed the suggestion and would examine it very carefully. He said it indicated the development of a bi-partisan economic foreign policy paralleling the bi-partisan approach to international political affairs.

Vandenberg, foreign relations chairman, and Millikin, chairman of the Republican conference (consisting of all Republican senators), indicated confidence that President Truman will agree to the compromise.

They acted to forestall a move by a number of their GOP colleagues to change the trade program by legislation. Leading House Republicans have signified their intention to try to reclaim some of the broad authority given to the State department.

Under existing law, the department can cut tariffs as much as 50 percent in return for concessions from other nations. Backers of the program fear that if it is ever thrown open to congressional amendments it may be so changed as to be unrecognizable.

In a formal statement, the two Republican senators said their proposal had been discussed with undersecretaries of state Dean Acheson and William Clayton.

Specifically, the senators proposed:

1. That the tariff commission be directed to review all proposed concessions and make "direct recommendations" to the President as to the point beyond which reductions and concessions cannot be made without injury to the domestic economy.

The commission would hold public hearings on its own motion, at the request of Congress, the President or "any aggrieved party."

2. That every future trade agreement include an "escape clause" under which the President could withdraw or modify any tariff order "if in practice it develops that such reduction or concession has imperiled any affected domestic interest."

3. That procedures be tightened so that nations which do not give reciprocal benefits to the United States shall not share in American tariff cuts through unconditional use of the "most favored nation" clause.

Under this clause, concessions granted to one nation are extended to others also.

Noting that the reciprocal trade agreements act does not expire until June 12, 1948, Vandenberg and Millikin said if there are to be any "important basic changes in the system" they could be considered more appropriately by the next session of Congress.

WOKING, England, Feb. 7 (AP)—Prof. Harold Laskin, former executive chairman of the British Labor party, said tonight he advocated an American loan to Russia to aid the economy of the United States and to promote better Russian-American understanding.

"If I wanted to convince Russia of the need and desire for peace," Laskin told a Labor party meeting, "I would ease the next 20 years in Russia by a great loan to her for the purpose of reconstruction."

$28,000 in Cash Found Near Highway In Hesse Gem Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two quart jars containing $28,000 cash were dug up beside a Virginia highway in the recovery of the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels, the Army disclosed today.

The story was told in Federal court at nearby Alexandria, Va., where two civilians challenged the Army's right to subpoena them as witnesses for the court martial of Col. Jack W. Durant, one of the chief defendants in the theft case.

The civilians are James E. Durant, Falls Church, Va., brother of the colonel, and Mrs. Martha Orwig Evans, Arlington, Va., a former United Nations secretary in London.

Maj. Joseph S. Robinson, of the judge advocate general's department, the chief prosecutor, told the court both are wanted to testify at Durant's trial because of statements they signed in connection with the case.

Robinson told newsmen that James Durant's statement dealt with the cache of diamonds and cash found buried in the quart jars beside the Leesburg pike near Falls Church, Mrs. Evans' statement, the prosecutor added, concerned her acquaintance with Col. Durant.

Frank L. Ball Sr., attorney for James Durant and Mrs. Evans moved to quash the subpoenas. He contended a military court cannot subpoena civilians. He also argued that the court martial is without authority after leaving the jurisdiction of the European commander who convened it at Frankfurt, Germany, in December.

Federal Judge Robert N. Pollard reserved a decision until next week, when he will be sitting in Richmond.

American Troops Stay in Southern Korea Until Provisional Government Is Formed

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 7 (AP)—American troops will stay in southern Korea until a provisional government has been established for the entire country, including the Russian-occupied northern half, Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, military governor, declared today in a press statement.

A companion statement by Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding U. S. military forces in southern Korea, reiterated his frequent explanation of the American aim to insure "stable, democratic self government" and national independence for Korea.

The Americans have been stressing both points to Koreans ever since American-Soviet joint commission negotiations broke down the past May.

Lerch's statement was presented as an answer to what he called "irresponsible American columnists and news commentators" who have "persisted in spreading a rumor that United States troops were soon to withdraw from Korea."

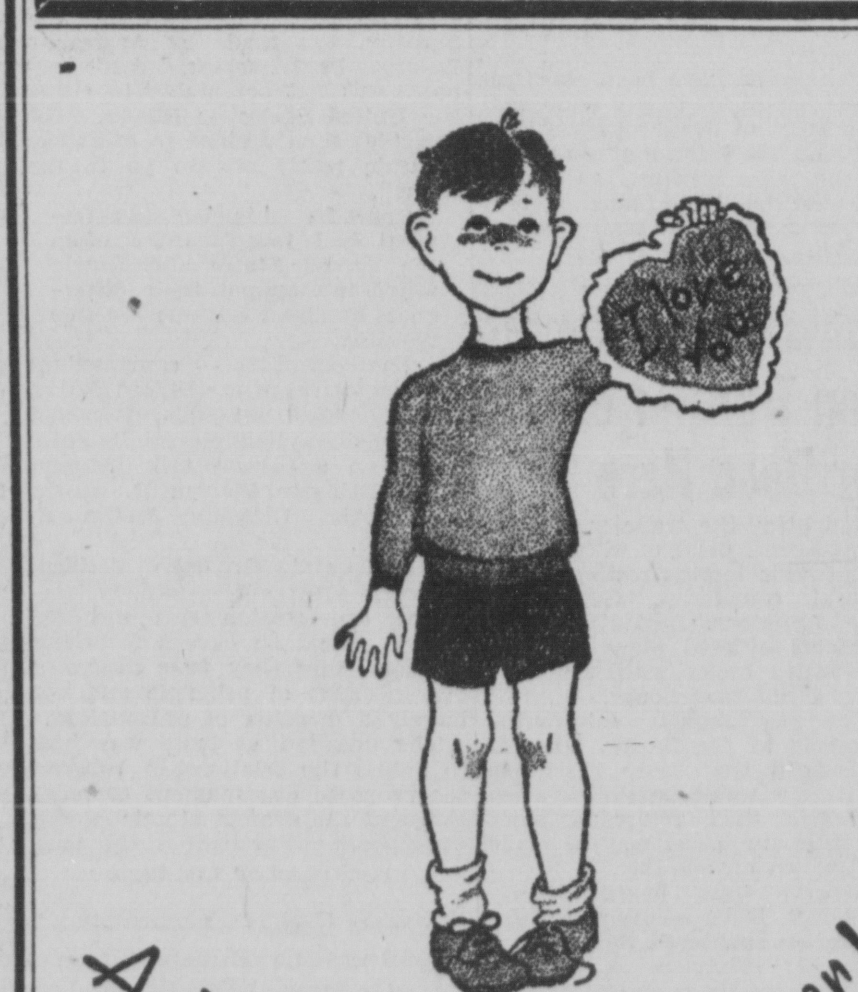

Lerch did not identify the persons to whom he referred.

Hodge's statement said recent discussion with Korean leaders indicated that some South Koreans "do not understand completely" the functions of the U. S.-Russian joint commission.

This commission, he said, is intended to put into practical operation the decision of the foreign ministers' council at Moscow in December, 1945, by forming a provisional government for the entire country and, helping Korea: for up to five years in political, economic and social progress.

A Valentine for Mother!

Such a grubby little valentine—no lace, no satin, no pretty poem! Butch made it himself, scrawled the message, pasted it crookedly together. It didn't cost much, but what a lift it gives a Mother's heart!

No, it isn't cost alone that counts. It's what a thing does for you. Like electricity, for instance. Dependable electric service is Mother's 365-days-a-year valentine—ready all the time to lift the burden of homemaking, ready to make life easier and happier for her.

And when Mother struggles with her budget, she can't help noticing that electricity is just about the smallest item on her list. While the cost of nearly everything else went up, the price of electricity came down—AND STAYED DOWN. Maybe you don't know it, but the average family in the Philadelphia Electric Company area now gets TWICE AS MUCH ELECTRICITY for its dollar as it did 15 years ago.

Yes, electricity—like Butch's valentine—does a lot for a little!

Dog Bite Is Fatal To Philadelphia Boy

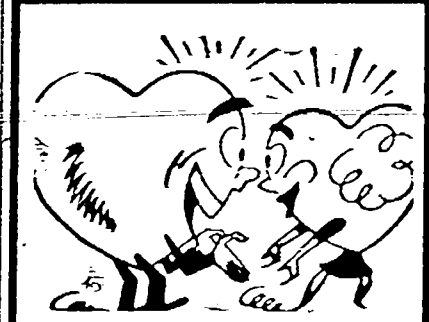

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7 (AP)—A four-year old boy was bitten to death by a large German shepherd dog today while his mother vainly tried to mount a slope where he was sledding.

His face disfigured beyond recognition and his snowsuit ripped to shreds by the animal's teeth, Walter Momer Jr., was fatally injured before a neighbor beat off the dog with his trouser belt.

His mother, Mrs. Jane Momer, arrived seconds later and warded off a second attack by the dog with a dishpan she carried from the kitchen. She was followed by the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Owens.

While the child was rushed to a hospital in a futile attempt to save his life, the snarling dog was shot and killed by two other neighbors—one the brother of a young boy bitten by the same animal in an attack on four children yesterday.

Labor Should Unite To Protect Itself, Senator Declares

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont.) today called on the AFL and CIO to end their inter-union fight, and join hands to "defend labor's rights and the broader interests of the American people."

"The time has come," he said in an address delivered at a national lawyers guild conference on labor relations, "for labor leaders and labor organizations to stop refusing to meet with one another."

"American labor can not afford to be indifferent to the problems of small business, or to constructive farm legislation, and above all, American labor cannot be indifferent to the whole problem of concentration of economic power in this country which threatens the livelihood of its members."

Murray said the Republican legislative program is "an attempt to strengthen the powerful in our society at the expense of the mass of the American people."

He contended "the core of the Republican program is the attack on labor and the democratic forces allied with labor" but added that "under the guise to attempt to curb unions there is actually an attempt to abridge fundamental rights of American citizens, including wiping out half of the Bill of Rights."

The Senator declared the "Primary purpose" behind pending labor proposals is to "weaken the collective bargaining process and to place labor, organized and unorganized, at the mercy of the corporate giants of this country."

Richard V. Gilbert, former chief economist of the OPA, suggested an average 15 percent increase in wages and five to 10 percent decline in prices to "take the sting out of the recession that just about everybody expects."

Gilbert declared that "prices have skyrocketed" to a point where "in the absence of any general wage increase, prices will fall by 20 percent sometime this year."

"It would be statesmanship of high order — statesmanship that would head off a recession — if business would grant wage increases to increase buying power and at the same time reduce prices to push sales," Gilbert said.

CIO Leader Silent On Reconciliation; Awaits AFL Letter

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray today still shunned comment on a possible reconciliation with John L. Lewis personally or the AFL collectively but his aides flatly denied any rapprochement was in the offing.

These sources, however, kept a foot in the door by adding:

"No one can tell what the future will bring."

A letter drafted by AFL President William Green to Murray suggesting some sort of unity between the nation's largest labor organizations in the common cause of fighting proposed labor control legislation started merger reports.

That letter came the past week from the AFL convention in Miami and rapprochement rumors have adhered to it like postage stamps ever since.

As late as today, however, Murray, through a spokesman, insisted he has not seen the letter.

The letter probably is in the Washington office but Mr. Murray hasn't been there recently.

The spokesman said:

Relations between Murray and Lewis, once the one-two punch of the United Mine Workers and then infant CIO have been feely formal since Lewis quit the CIO and took his powerful mine workers back into the AFL.

Some years ago Murray and Green appeared on the same platform here in what was to be a love feast between their organizations but the budding romance never got any farther.

The CIO and AFL have shared common interest in Lewis court fight growing out of the past Fall's coal strike.

But this was only a technical meeting of minds, inspired by a joint distaste for labor curbs.

Basically, the unions are far apart in organizational tactics. The CIO is a trade union, lumping all workers of an industry into one "vertical" group, from basement to ceiling of a plant. The AFL is a craft organization in which it is possible for several different crafts, such as carpenters, cabinet makers, pipefitters, etc., to work side-by-side while under jurisdiction of entirely separate branches of the union.

$25,000 Goal Is Set For Red Cross Here

Curtis made the announcement at a meeting of the Pottstown chapter of the American Red Cross at noon yesterday. He made the announcement after he assumed the post of chairman of the Pottstown fund campaign previously held by Carroll L. Rutter, Pottstown attorney.

Rutter was forced to resign from the post due to pressure of business affairs which kept him from performing his duties as chairman.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were Mrs. Harold Cadmus and Mrs. Kenneth Howard, coordinating chairmen of the Pottstown fund.

YOUR EYES

By Dr. H. C. Baumann

This column is written by Dr. H. C. Baumann, Optometrist, a competent authority on matters pertaining to eyesight.

One of the common eye conditions necessitating the wearing of glasses is Myopia (nearsightedness). The usual complaint in uncorrected nearsightedness is the inability to see distant objects, such as names of streets, the screen in movies, or to recognize the features of friends. It quite often happens, especially in Myopia of a low degree, that near vision is unimpaired. The correction of myopia is relatively simple, and the vast majority achieve normal vision with properly prescribed glasses.

Thus at the earliest observation of difficulty in seeing distant objects, one should have his eyes examined. It is criminal neglect to let Myopia go uncorrected, for normal vision can be so easily and painlessly achieved.

If you have any questions concerning your eyes, address Dr. Baumann at 215 High Street, Pottstown, and your query will be answered through this column or by direct mail.

CIO Leader Silent On Reconciliation; Awaits AFL Letter

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray today still shunned comment on a possible reconciliation with John L. Lewis personally or the AFL collectively but his aides flatly denied any rapprochement was in the offing.

These sources, however, kept a foot in the door by adding: "No one can tell what the future will bring."

A letter drafted by AFL President William Green to Murray suggesting some sort of unity between the nation's largest labor organizations in the common cause of fighting proposed labor control legislation started merger reports.

That letter came the past week from the AFL convention in Miami and reconciliation rumors have adhered to it like postage stamps ever since.

As late as today, however, Murray, through a spokesman, insisted he has not seen the letter.

The letter probably is in the Washington office but Mr. Murray hasn't been there recently.

Relations between Murray and Lewis, once the one-two punch of the United Mine Workers and then infant CIO have been icy for some time since Lewis quit the CIO and took his powerful mine workers back into the AFL.

Some years ago Murray and Green appeared on the same platform here in what was to be a love feast between their organizations but the budding romance never got any farther.

The CIO and AFL have shared common interest in Lewis court fight growing out of the past Fall's coal strike.

But this was only a technical meeting of minds, inspired by a joint distaste for labor curbs.

Basically, the unions are far apart in organizational tactics. The CIO is a trade union, lumping all workers of an industry into one "vertical" group, from basement to ceiling of a plant. The AFL is a craft organization in which it is possible for several different crafts, such as carpenters, cabinet makers, pipefitters, etc., to work side-by-side while under jurisdiction of entirely separate branches of the union.

$25,000 Goal Is Set For Red Cross Here

William H. Curtiss, chairman of the Northern Branch American Red Cross fund campaign, yesterday announced that the campaign goal for Pottstown for 1947 was $25,000. This is a $9000 drop from last year when the goal was $34,000 and Pottstown subscribed $37,405.

Curtiss made the announcement at a meeting of the Pottstown chapter of the American Red Cross at noon yesterday. He made the announcement after he assumed the post due to pressure of business affairs which kept him from performing his duties as chairman.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were Mrs. Harold Cadmus and Mrs. Kenneth Howard, coordinating chairmen of the Pottstown fund.

The office is under the direction of Lt. Com. H. G. Buckwalter, CPO Charles A. Grier and CPO A. Z. Clark, and will remain at that corner until Monday night.

YOUR EYES

By Dr. H. C. Baumann

This column is written by Dr. H. C. Baumann, Ophthalmologist, a competent authority on matters pertaining to eyesight.

One of the common eye conditions necessitating the wearing of glasses is Myopia (nearsightedness).

The usual complaint in uncorrected nearsightedness is the inability to see distant objects, such as names of streets, the screen in movies, or to recognize the features of friends. It quite often happens, especially in Myopia of a low degree, that near vision is unimpaired. The correction of myopia is relatively simple, and the vast majority achieve normal vision with properly prescribed glasses.

Thus at the earliest observation of difficulty in seeing distant objects, one should have his eyes examined. It is criminal neglect to let Myopia go uncorrected, for normal vision can be so easily and painlessly achieved.

If you have any questions concerning your eyes, address Dr. Baumann at 215 High Street, Pottstown, and your query will be answered through this column or by direct mail.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1947

A wise man should have money in his head, not in his heart.—Swift.

Why Not Try Brotherhood?

"God is light and to Him is no darkness at all. If we say we have fellowship with Him while we walk in darkness, we lie and do not love according to the truth. But if we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another."
1 John 1:5-7

WHEN we attempt to look out upon the world as through the eyes of Jesus Christ, we see people everywhere longing for freedom and peace. Yet people of different nations, classes and races are plagued by fear, and atomic power is harnessed to the engines of war.

In our own land, while we talk of the Four Freedoms, we see lynchings and riots, the rebirth of the Ku Klux Klan, political brigands on the march and greed at flood tide. We see the zealous champions of white supremacy attempting to dominate by legal or illegal power, while men and women of Negro and Japanese ancestry, who fought and suffered for democratic freedom, are ostracized, beaten, and in several sections of the country even killed, as they seek to enjoy some of that freedom.

All this indicates that great numbers of our people are still assuming that social problems can be solved by racial and cultural segregation and discrimination based upon an outworn system of caste and class upheld by legal force or by lawless violence.

Our racial problems are not merely a domestic matter but have world-wide significance. Our American leadership in securing a world order of justice and peace for all peoples will be fatally handicapped so long as we fail to solve the problems of racial justice in our own country.

Interracial problems can be solved only by a new approach and a new attitude. We cannot face both ways toward better in a master race and also toward the democratic principle of equality.

Creative, democratic living is cradled in our homes, in our churches, in our places of work and in our local neighborhoods and communities.

We must, therefore, either strive for unsegregated churches and communities, where our children may grow into men and women of mutual respect and understanding, and use our abundant resources to serve and bless all, or we shall continue our slums, our ghettos, our sharecropper plantations and our job of discrimination and reap the whirlwind of prejudice, hatred and of mob violence.

For a quarter of a century the Protestant churches have annually observed Race Relations Sunday, dedicated to justice, goodwill and fellowship among all races who dwell in our land.

On this Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Race Relations Sunday tomorrow we should take stock of and give thanks for the advancement that has been made and give ourselves for the long, hard struggle ahead. The action of the churches against lynching and for fair employment practice, the renouncing of segregation by some Protestant communions, by the Federal Council of Churches and by the YMCA and YWCA, the work of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace, and other efforts of like character are some of the positive achievements.

The new day, however, makes it imperative for us to renounce the pattern of segregation as out of harmony with the ideal of the community.

Take effective measures to oppose movements and agencies which aim to set one race or group against another.

Seek an economy which will spread the abundance of our fields and factories to feed, clothe, and house the many, irrespective of race, creed, or national origin.

Use every means to secure employment of workers based not upon color, creed or national origin but upon character and skill.

Stand for equal opportunity of minority racial groups for decent housing unrestricted by legal covenants, real estate codes and community practices.

Work to guarantee civil rights and privileges to all.

Encourage the United Nations to move steadily forward toward full justice and fair opportunity for dependent and colonial peoples.

Seek to know our neighbors regardless of cultural, national and racial distances and to share with them the riches of personal and intergroup fellowship.

Respect the dignity of every human being.

Keim Street Dump Raises Objections

New Local Eyesore

To the Editor: I see that the borough is creating a new eyesore for Pottstown. I have reference to a town dump that started about a week ago at the north end of the Madison bridge.

Several weeks ago when the town workmen started to prepare an entrance to the field which is heavily wooded, it was said the dump would be located several hundred yards east of Keim street near the sewage disposal plant. Instead, the trucks are dumping their contents right along Keim street in plain view, and this Summer the garbage will be smelled by everyone who passes.

That area, too, is completely covered by water when the river goes over its banks and much of the trash will be washed into the stream.

It is true that the town must have a place to dump its trash, but instead of making a dump beside a main highway, why can't it be put out of sight when it is possible to do so? It is not too late now to re-locate it near the sewage disposal plant.

More Production, Less Pay

To the Editor: In reply to Mrs. T. H. J. ("Strikes Give Bad Name") Readers Say, Feb. 6, the unauthorized strikes in the Pottstown plants may give Pottstown a bad name, but how would she like to go into the plant she mentioned and build more fires than we have been doing in the past at $2 a day less?

The whole thing in a nutshell is the company has installed a newer type machine which they believe will double production. The men have been unable to do this which means we then would lose out financially, and the company is still ahead of the game.

Can you blame the men for walking out?

If they think we are a bunch of farmers here in Pottstown and they can shove this down our throats, then they are crazy.

I say, Pottstown, wake up to what is going on in our plants.

Real Estate Capital Penalized

To the Editor: I can not see where the lawmakers get their justification for continuing rent control. From the President down to the state legislators, they are for it.

Are landlords to be penalized because they have their capital invested in rental property instead of industrial plants? Both industry and railroads have been allowed increases in charges.

How quickly the meat shortage evaporated after controls were removed! Can't Mr. Truman see that the same thing would happen in housing if rent controls were lifted?

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Chinese Black Market Slashes Value of Yuan

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CHINESE currency has slipped a new low on the open black market in Shanghai, where it now costs 10,000 Chinese Yuan to buy one American dollar.

The Yuan is the unit usually called the Chinese dollar.

This is the black market's answer to a recent step the government has taken, partly in an effort to prop up its money, partly to gather in more foreign exchange for its own reserve.

The implication seems to be that in the open battleground of a black market, money won't stay propped up long unless it gets an injection of real strength. What the government did was to declare a 50 percent surcharge on luxury imports, which was to pay for a 100 percent subsidy for exports.

At the time, the export subsidy roughly made up the difference between the official rate of 250 Yuan to the dollar and the black market rate of 7500 to 1.

Within two days the black market has beaten the Yuan down to its all time low of 10,000 to 1, and today exporters are no better off than before.

The government probably was aiming at more than just an expedient. Background for this may have been provided in an article the past month in the Shanghai Sin Wan Pao by Dr. T. P. Ts'ang, prominent economist and former government official.

He said one of the government recently because he differed on financial policy. While his remarks probably don't reflect official policy, they may indicate lines along which the government some day may be forced.

He pointed out that low production, too much money and the resulting inflation has throttled exports and favored the importers who have flooded Chinese markets with luxury goods. He advocated stimulating production by stabilizing the currency, which in turn would help exports.

Dr. Ts'ang then suggested that eventually China may have to junk the Yuan and issue a new currency — one that would be worth about 25 cents, U. S. the value which the Yuan held roughly from 1933 to 1936.

At one time during the first world war, the Yuan actually was worth more than the American dollar because of its silver content.

He said a new currency could not be tried, however, until the civil war with the Communists was settled and the separate Communist currency removed from the scene.

There have been repeated rumors — and official denials — that a new currency would replace the virtually worthless Yuan.

Unless a new currency had some thing more behind it than the Yuan has, it would follow promptly into monetary madness. That something still isn't in sight.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

POLLY M., 26, manages her beauty shop and teaches anatomy in a beauty school. She was in my applied psychology class.

"Last Christmas I thought I'd like to do something for some child who might be overlooked," she began. "So I went to an orphanage to see if I couldn't borrow a little girl to entertain over the holidays."

"But little girls seemed to be in demand, and I couldn't find one. However, the matron introduced me to Billy and Bob, brothers aged nine and ten."

"The boys looked so eager and tried to be so friendly, hopeful that I would invite them home with me, that I just couldn't refuse. As I took them to my apartment in my car, Billy confessed he really didn't expect me to take them, for nobody else ever had, 'cause they don't want boys, and especially after they leave the cute baby stage."

"Well, I took them to the leading department stores to see the elaborate toy sections and ride the escalators. We went to movies, to church on Sunday, and had our own little tree, which I let them decorate."

"When I took them back, they pleaded with me to adopt them. 'Please, Miss Polly, we wouldn't cause you any trouble at all. Honest, we wouldn't. We'd just sit on chairs or clean your apartment until you got home from work.'"

"Well, I couldn't adopt them, but I still go out to see them every week, and take them the colored comic pages from the Sunday newspapers. Dr. Crane, why do people refrain from adopting orphan children when they really could do so?"

First of all, most of us are so egotistical that we want our own flesh and blood, failing to realize that our own kin may debauch us and prove oblivious to our sacrifices unless we train them properly.

Conversely, a stranger's children may lay down their lives in our behalf if we train them correctly.

In short, there is no magic in "blood." As long as foster parents pick out youngsters of normal abilities, they can then educate the latter into being devoted sons and daughters, into being musicians or doctors, business men or teachers.

Psychologically, the best old age insurance comes in the form of children who have been trained to respect and love their parents, whether real or foster.

Such youngsters extort us by forcing us to keep us in touch with life. They cause us worry and work, but we become much more attractive and mellow in our own personalities as a result.

Many couples end in divorce simply because they have no children to prompt greater usefulness. When our orphanages hold so many thousands of fine boys and girls, it is pathetic that more childless couples don't take advantage of these golden opportunities.

Morality is not inherited. Children are never "born criminals," so don't worry about the ancestry of any child whose health and mentality are normal.

And don't always seek babies for adoption. Give these older boys and girls a chance. Also, adopt two children so their personalities will not become warped by being an "only" child. And let them know that when you adopt them, they'll ALWAYS be yours!

Don't keep them in suspense for months or years or threaten to send them back if they don't behave. If you already have a family, then invite some of these youngsters into your home over Sunday or some holiday. You'll never regret it, and they'll be forever grateful!

Remind your foster child that you and your wife are of no blood kinship either, nor are you and your foster child. But are all bound together by the spiritual bond of love.

It seems to me that Cohn's objection is anything but insurmountable. Grace Moore was a woman who supported many charities. I think the public would applaud, rather than criticize if Cohn, in reissuing the picture, were to pledge all the profits to any one of the worthy causes to which she contributed.

A wise man should have money in his head, not in his heart.—Swift.

Why Not Try Brotherhood?

"God is light and in Him is no darkness at all. If we say we have fellowship with Him while we walk in darkness, we lie and do not live according to the truth. But if we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another."

I John 1:5-7

WHEN we attempt to look out upon the world as through the eyes of Jesus Christ, we see people everywhere longing for freedom and peace. Yet people of different nations, classes and races are plagued by fear, and atomic power is harnessed to the engines of war.

In our own land, while we talk of the Four Freedoms, we see lynchings and riots, the rebirth of the Ku Klux Klan, political brigands on the march and greed at flood tide. We see the zealous champions of white supremacy attempting to dominate by legal or illegal power, while men and women of Negro and Japanese ancestry, who fought and suffered for democratic freedom, are ostracized, beaten, and in several sections of the country even killed, as they seek to enjoy some of that freedom.

All this indicates that great numbers of our people are still assuming that social problems can be solved by racial and cultural segregation and discrimination based upon an outworn system of caste and class upheld by legal force or by lawless violence.

Our racial problems are not merely a domestic matter but have world-wide significance. Our American leadership in securing a world order of justice and peace for all peoples will be fatally handicapped so long as we fail to solve the problems of racial justice in our own country.

Interracial problems can be solved only by a new approach and a new attitude. We cannot face both ways toward belief in a master race and also toward the democratic principle of equality.

Creative, democratic living is cradled in our homes, in our churches, in our places of work and in our local neighborhoods and communities.

We must, therefore, either strive for unsegregated churches and communities, where our children may grow into men and women of mutual respect and understanding, and use our abundant resources to serve and bless all, or we shall continue our slums, our ghettos, our sharecropper plantations and our job of discrimination and reap the whirlwind of prejudice, hatred and of mob violence.

For a quarter of a century the Protestant churches have annually observed Race Relations Sunday, dedicated to justice, goodwill and fellowship among all races who dwell in our land.

On this Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Race Relations Sunday tomorrow we should take stock of and give thanks for the advances that have been made and give ourselves for the long, hard struggle ahead. The action of the churches against lynching and for fair employment practice, the renouncing of segregation by some Protestant communions, by the Federal Council of Churches and by the YMCA and YWCA, the work of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace, and other efforts of like character are some of the positive achievements.

The new day, however, makes it imperative for us to renounce the pattern of segregation as out of harmony with the ideal of the community.

Take effective measures to oppose movements and agencies which aim to set one race or group against another.

Seek an economy which will spread the abundance of our fields and factories to feed, clothe, and house the many, irrespective of race, creed, or national origin.

Use every means to secure employment of workers based not upon color, creed or national origin but upon character and skill.

Stand for equal opportunity of minority racial groups for decent housing unrestricted by legal covenants, real estate codes and community practices.

Work to guarantee civil rights and privileges to all.

Encourage the United Nations to move steadily forward toward full justice and fair opportunity for dependent and colonial peoples.

Seek to know our neighbors regardless of cultural, national and racial distances and to share with them the riches of personal and intergroup fellowship.

Respect the dignity of every human being.

New Local Eyesore

To the Editor: I see that the borough is creating a new eyesore for Pottstown. I have reference to a town dump that started about a week ago at the north end of the Madison bridge.

Several weeks ago when the town workmen started to prepare an entrance to the field which is heavily wooded, it was said the dump would be located several hundred yards east of Keim street near the sewage disposal plant. Instead, the trucks are dumping their contents right along Keim street in plain view, and this Summer the garbage will be smelled by everyone who passes.

That area, too, is completely covered by water when the river goes over its banks and much of the trash will be washed into the stream.

It is true that the town must have a place to dump its trash, but instead of making a dump beside a main highway, why can't it be put out of sight when it is possible to do so? It is not too late now to re-locate it near the sewage disposal plant.

More Production, Less Pay

To the Editor: In reply to Mrs. T. H. J. ("Strikes Give Bad Name," Readers Say, Feb. 6), the unauthorized strikes in the Pottstown plants may give Pottstown a bad name, but how would she like to go into the plant she mentioned and build more tires than we have been doing in the past at $2 a day less?

The whole thing in a nutshell is the company has installed a newer type machine which they believe will double production. The men have been unable to do this which means we then would lose out financially, and the company is still ahead of the game.

Can you blame the men for walking out?

If they think we are a bunch of farmers here in Pottstown and they can shove this down our throats, then they are crazy.

I say, Pottstown, wake up to what is going on in our plants.

Real Estate Capital Penalized

To the Editor: I can not see where the lawmakers get their justification for continuing rent control. From the President down to the state legislators, they are for it.

Are landlords to be penalized because they have their capital invested in rental property instead of industrial plants? Both industry and railroads have been allowed increases in charges.

How quickly the meat shortage evaporated after controls were removed! Can't Mr. Truman see that the same thing would happen in housing if rent controls were lifted?

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Chinese Black Market Slashes Value of Yuan

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CHINESE currency has slipped a to a new low on the open black market in Shanghai, where it now costs 10,000 Chinese Yuan to buy one American dollar.

The Yuan is the unit usually called the Chinese dollar.

This is the black market's answer to a recent step the government has taken, partly in an effort to prop up its money, partly to gather in more foreign exchange for its own reserve.

The implication seems to be that in the open battleground of a black market, money won't stay propped up long unless it gets an injection of real strength. What the government did was to declare a 50 percent surcharge on luxury imports, which was to pay for a 100 percent subsidy for exports.

At the time, the export subsidy roughly made up the difference between the official rate of 3350 Yuan to the dollar and the black market rate of 7600 to 1.

Within two days the black market has beaten the Yuan down to its all time low of 10,000 to 1, and today exporters are no better off than before.

The government probably was aiming at more than just an expedient. Background for this may have been provided in an article the past month in the Shanghai Sin Wan Pao by Dr. T. F. Tsiang, prominent economist and former government official. Dr. Tsiang was eased out of the government recently because he differed on financial policy. While his remarks probably don't reflect official policy, they may indicate lines along which the government some day may be forced.

He pointed out that low production, too much money and the resulting inflation has throttled exports and favored the importers who have flooded Chinese markets with luxury goods. He advocated stimulating production by stabilizing the currency, which in turn would help exports.

Dr. Tsiang then suggested that eventually China may have to junk the Yuan and issue a new currency — one that would be worth about 25 cents, U. S. the value which the Yuan held roughly from 1933 to 1936.

At one time during the first world war, the Yuan actually was worth more than the American dollar because of its silver content.

He said a new currency could not be tried, however, until the civil war with the Communists was settled and the separate Communist currency removed from the scene.

There have been repeated rumors — and official denials — that a new currency would replace the virtually worthless Yuan.

Unless a new currency had some thing more behind it than the Yuan has, it would follow promptly into monetary madness. That something isn't in sight.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

POLLY M., 26, manages her beauty shop and teaches anatomy in a beauty school. She was in my applied psychology class.

"Last Christmas I thought I'd like to do something for some child who might be overlooked," she began, "so I went to an orphanage to see if I couldn't borrow a little girl to entertain over the holidays."

"But little girls seemed to be in demand, and I couldn't find one. However, the matron introduced me to Billy and Bob, brothers aged nine and ten."

"The boys looked so eager and tried to be so friendly, hopeful that I would invite them home with me, that I just couldn't refuse. As I took them to my apartment in my car, Billy confessed he really didn't expect me to take them, for nobody else ever had, 'cause they don't want boys, and especially after they leave the cute baby stage."

"Well, I took them to the leading department stores to see the elaborate toy sections and ride the escalators. We went to movies, to church on Sunday, and had our own little tree, which I let them decorate."

"When I took them back, they pleaded with me to adopt them. 'Please, Miss Polly, we wouldn't cause you any trouble at all. Honest, we wouldn't. We'd just sit on chairs or clean your apartment until you got home from work.'"

"Well, I couldn't adopt them, but I still go out to see them every week, and take them the colored comic pages from the Sunday newspapers. Dr. Crane, why do people refrain from adopting orphan children when they really could do so?"

First of all, most of us are so egotistical that we want our own flesh and blood, failing to realize that our own kin may doubtless us and prove oblivious to our sacrifices unless we train them properly.

Conversely, a stranger's children may lay down their lives in our behalf if we train them correctly.

In short, there is no magic in "blood." As long as foster parents pick out youngsters of normal abilities, they can then educate the latter into being devoted sons and daughters, into being musicians or doctors, business men or teachers.

Psychologically, the best old age insurance comes in the form of children who have been trained to respect and love their parents, whether real or foster.

Such youngsters extort us by forcing us to keep us in touch with life. They cause us worry and work, but we become much more attractive and mellow in our own personalities as a result.

Many couples end in divorce simply because they have no children to prompt greater selfishness. When our orphanages hold so many thousands of fine boys and girls, it is pathetic that more childless couples don't take advantage of these golden opportunities.

Morality is not inherited. Children are never "born criminals," so don't worry about the ancestry of any child whose health and mentality are normal.

And don't always seek babies for adoption. Give these older boys and girls a chance. Also, adopt two children so their personalities will not become warped by being an "only" child. And let them know that when you adopt them, they'll ALWAYS be yours!

Don't keep them in suspense for months or years or threaten to send them back if they don't behave. If you already have a family, then invite some of these youngsters into your home over Sunday or some holiday. You'll never regret it, and they'll be forever grateful!

Remind your foster child that you and your wife are of no blood kinship either, nor are you and your foster child. But are all bound together by the spiritual bond of love.

SELDOM IT is that a defensive player should refuse to take immediately the trick that will set the contract, especially if it is a doubled contract. To hold off the winning card on that trick, expecting your partner to have a card that can win it, is the height of folly ordinarily. But you see that simple fundamental violated often, especially by players who are in too much of a hurry to count the tricks already won and lost, and who therefore don't know it would be the setting trick.

PREVIEW NIGHTS

PIC OF THE WEEK: "The Late George Apley" (Ronald Colman-Peggy Cummins-Richard Ney) Satirical comedy that discriminating adults will rate as one of the top pictures of the year.

RECOMMENDED: "Song of Scheherazade" (Yvonne de Carlo-Brian Donlevy-Jean Pierre Aumont). Music-filled comedy drama based on the life and music of Tschakowsky.

GOOD: "Trail to San Antonio" (Gene Autry-Peggy Stewart-Sterling Holloway). Unusually nourishing corn for western fans.

SO-SO: "Rolling Home" (Jean Parker-Russell Hayden). Home will seem attractive after this tear-jerker. "Bedelia" (Margaret Lockwood-Ian Hunter). An English-made crime study that will leave you wondering why anyone bothered to make it.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Ronald Colman in "The Late George Apley."

Some days ago, I suggested in this column that Columbia, as a tribute to the late Grace Moore, should re-issue her greatest picture, "One Night of Love." Harry Cohn, top man at Columbia, rejected that idea a few days later while talking to another Hollywood writer. "I would like to re-issue the picture," he said, "but I'm afraid the public might misunderstand and accuse me of trying to capitalize on Miss Moore's death."

It seems to me that Cohn's objection is anything but insurmountable. Grace Moore was a woman who supported many charities. I think the public would applaud, rather than criticize if Cohn, in reissuing the picture, were to pledge all the profits to any one of the worthy causes to which she contributed.

Thief Is Sentenced, Asked to Admit Guilt
By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, Feb. 7.—Brand-ed a "mean thief" by Judge Harold G. Knight, John Olesch, 64, of Pottstown RD 3, today was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the county prison as a result of his conviction in Criminal court earlier this week on a charge of robbery.
However, the jurist said he will reconsider the heavy sentence if Olesch will admit his guilt and divulge where he has hidden the $210 he allegedly stole from Mrs. Theresa Guss, of Pottstown RD 3, an 84-year-old widow. Judge Knight gave the defendant until March 1 to change his mind.
Olesch, who lived in a shanty on the Guss property, was accused of sneaking into the home on Jan. 13 and taking the bundle of bills from between two mattresses.
Mrs. Guss, it was testified, had become a widow a week before funeral services for her 87-year-old husband having been held on the Saturday preceding the robbery.
Some 30,000 years ago North America was covered with a layer of ice hundreds of feet thick.

TOWN HALL —

planning ultimately to conquer Korea and China. She was defeated on land and on sea, primarily through the action of an iron-clad battleship invented by a Korean admiral. In her retreat, however, much of Korea was looted and ravaged.
Ranking under this centuries old defeat, Japan perfidiously requested permission to cross Korea in the Russo-Japanese War, promising to evacuate her troops as soon as the war ended.
In 1905, the Japanese refused to remove their troops, and tried to have the emperor of Korea sign an edict declaring Korea under the protection of Japan. When he refused, his seal was torn from his hand, his signature was forced to the document and sealed with his ring, and he, himself, was placed under protective custody.
Japan annexed Korea outright in 1910.
It was in this atmosphere of treachery that Miss Yim took up her fight for Korean independence. Her family revered Dr. Syngman Rhee, the great Korean patriot, and she naturally inherited this feeling, along with a desire to see her country free.
While attending high school, she and three friends spent four years of after-school activities copying by hand the 4200-year-old history of her nation. They also committed the eyes of all portraits of the Japanese emperor's wife while they attended school.
At the close of the World War in 1918, the Japanese requested the Korean emperor to sign a petition saying his people were happy under Japanese rule and would prefer to remain under it. The emperor refused, and a month later he was dead.
The assassination of the emperor touched off a revolt of the underground, and 33 Korean leaders met and drew up a declaration of independence which they planned to read on the day of the emperor's public funeral. To spare the crowds who gathered to do homage to their ruler, the reading was postponed two days until March 3, 1919, when it was read all over Korea simultaneously.
Miss Yim was one of those who smuggled the "declaration of 33", as it was known into the country-side, fulfilling her task as a key member of the underground. To do this, she had to outwit the Japanese police.
She managed to evade being searched before boarding the train from Seoul. (The micro-graphed copies of the declaration were wrapped about her body), and then eluded a detective assigned to watch her. She did this by "borrowing" a peasant woman's baby for the trip.
In the independence riots which followed the death of the 33 members who wrote the proclamation,

Miss Yim was almost beaten to death by the Japanese. She spent nearly six months in prison hospitals, hovering between life and death.
Once when she tried to escape to China, she was apprehended and placed in protective custody for three years. During this time she went to the Christian college in Hiroshima, Japan. With the help of her professor there, one of the few anti-imperialist Japanese, she managed to come to the United States where she studied at the University of Southern California. While gaining her master's degree, she worked.
At the end of ten years, as manager of a trucking, agricultural and gasoline business, she managed to amass $20,000, which she used to help build the Central Women's college. Upon her return to Korea, she became president of the school.
On her last return home, in 1940, she knew that war was coming and felt she should be with her people in what might be their hour of liberation. The Japanese tried to force her to broadcast anti-American propaganda, but she refused. For this refusal they closed her school and placed her under constant surveillance. Despite this, she was one of the "big three" of the Korean resistance movement during the war.

As for other commodities, he remarked, they were rising gradually all except soft drinks, which for some reason, were dropping in price.
Butter prices in another High street chain store, of which John Dusco is manager, rose in three steps over Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday this week from 69 to 71 cents for whole pounds. The boost was directed at the home office in Philadelphia, Dusco said.
Allen Rosen, representative of a grocery store at High and York streets, stated that butter prices there had gone up from 69 only to 72 on Monday.
Despite this climb Rosen said that sales of butter had gone up. The store keeps a light stock of butter because of its changeable price, he said.
Still another High street establishment reported prices for butter had risen from 71 to 71 cents a pound this week.
Miller, who is the proprietor of a store at 51 Hanover street, said that his prices were up from 67 to 75 cents for solid pounds and 69 to 73 for quartered pounds.

McDonough hearing, was jubilant over Judge Porter's decision. He declared that the decision bore out his contention that Talmadge's election was illegal.
Talmadge, in a statement from the executive office here, said he was surprised at the Rome decision since a hearing in the case originally had been scheduled for Feb. 12. The legislature elected him governor Jan. 15.
"I don't know how the hearing date was advanced to Feb. 7 unless it was moved up by agreement of both parties to the suit," Talmadge said. "I was not made a party to the suit in any way and was not notified that the hearing would be held today. I was not represented by counsel in any way. Counsel, as well as all parties to the suit involved, opposed my election as governor of Georgia." Judge Porter said in his written order that the legislature's sole power under the constitution was to name the late Eugene Talmadge, Herman's father, the winner of the general election.

They Said It Couldn't Be Done But Acacia Did It... The Acacia Way

You Get More Insurance Protection For Your Premium Dollar — Plus Real Earned Dividends

In all the history of life insurance no plan has benefited the buyer as much as THE ACACIA WAY which ACACIA'S President William Montgomery introduced twenty years ago. This plan provides mutual insurance at rates as low as and in some cases even lower than those charged by companies which do not pay dividends to their policyholders. It assures every ACACIA policyholder a share in the profits of the company in the form of real earned dividends.

The insurance industry said, "It couldn't be done"... that only the old, so-called plans were practical. Yet from its very inception THE ACACIA WAY has proved successful and has saved ACACIA policyholders an enormous amount of money each year.

How well THE ACACIA WAY has succeeded is proved by these FACTS: Since 1926 ACACIA'S Insurance in Force has increased 229%; Surplus has increased 487%; Assets have increased 806%; and FIFTEEN MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in dividends to policyholders.

Why take from the policyholder money he could profitably use to buy other things?" The low premium ACACIA WAY was Mr. Montgomery's answer.

Thief Is Sentenced, Asked to Admit Guilt

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Feb. 7.—Brand-ed a "mean thief" by Judge Harold G. Knight, John Olesh, 64, of Pottstown RD 3, today was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the county prison as a result of his conviction in Criminal court earlier this week on a charge of robbery.

However, the jurist said he will reconsider the heavy sentence if Olesh will admit his guilt and divulge where he has hidden the $210 he allegedly stole from Mrs. Theresa Guss, of Pottstown RD 3, an 84-year-old widow. Judge Knight gave the defendant until March 1 to change his mind.

Olesh, who lived in a shanty on the Guss property, was accused of sneaking into the home on Jan. 13 and taking the bundle of bills from between two mattresses.

Mrs. Guss, it was testified, had become widowed a week before, funeral services for her 87-year-old husband having been held on the Saturday preceeding the robbery.

planning ultimately to conquer Korea and China. She was defeated on land and on sea, primarily through the action of an iron-clad battleship invented by a Korean admiral. In her retreat, however, much of Korea was looted and ravaged.

Ranking under this centuries old defeat, Japan perfidiously requested permission to cross Korea in the Russo-Japanese War, promising to evacuate her troops as soon as the war ended.

In 1905, the Japanese refused to remove their troops, and tried to have the emperor of Korea sign an edict declaring Korea under the protection of Japan. When he refused, his seal was torn from his hand, his signature was forged to the document and sealed with his ring, and he, "himself," was placed under protective custody.

Lieut. Gov. M. E. Thompson, above, yesterday was declared Georgia's chief executive, in a decision by Superior Judge Claude H. Porter, in Atlanta.

CHILE ACCEPTS REFUGEES

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 7 (AP)—Chile consented today to accept 2000 European refugee families, provided the men were chosen from the ranks of skilled workers. The agreement was signed with the inter-governmental refugee committee, whose headquarters is in London.

Americans Start Evacuation of China; Communist Forces Halt Railway Attacks

PEIPING, Feb. 7 (AP)—Escorted by U. S. Marine planes overhead and Marine guards aboard train, the first party of Americans from the disbanding executive headquarters has safely reached the sea today and boarded ship for home.

Nearly 1700 others from the headquarters, plus about 10,000 Marines, are to leave shortly in carrying out the American decision to abandon mediation efforts and leave China.

Aboard the seven car special train on the 115-mile trip from Peiping to Tangku were 303 Army and civilian personnel and dependents and 20 Marine guards.

Two Marine planes overhead kept in radio touch with a fighter squadron which was ready to take off instantly if needed.

The precautions proved unnecessary. Chinese Communists kept their promise to leave the railroad alone while the Americans were using it.

Until two days ago the route

ceeded in attaining our final objective; we are going down with our colors around us."

While the Chinese guns were silent along the route the Americans took, fighting in the civil war continued on the Peiping-Hankow railway at points from 70 to 170 miles southwest of Peiping.

The Chinese press said the government was preparing a determined effort to clear this line and would soon bring in troops from Manchuria.

In Shansi province, Communist attackers were reported within 33 miles west of the provincial capital, Taiyuan, where a state of emergency was declared.

The general told correspondents the mediation effort was "the most unique mission during the long history of the United States Army," and with an emotion-choked voice added, "I am very sorry we were not successful. Like many another American soldier, we did not succeed in attaining our final objective; we are going down with our colors around us."

ONE HOUR OF GOOD MUSIC—YOU'RE INVITED

Ps. 46:1 God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

All the medicines needed to cure you of what ails you are here on these shelves. Everything you need is here, everything except the hands of the pharmacist, skilled to mix the proper proportions! But even the most highly trained medical men have not yet found all the answers. There are thousands of experiments still to be performed; years of research are still undone.

Everything you need for security is right around you. All the ingredients for happiness are within reach. But you also need trained hands to mix the right proportions. The Church is skilled in that very art. It can tell you how to combine the elements of life in the best possible way.

But even in the Church there are thousands of experiments still to be performed, years of research still to be done. The Church needs your steady hands, your questioning mind, your eager soul to help it in its search for further truth. You cannot live a truly healthy life without it; and it cannot progress without you.

Margaret Truman Takes Apartment In New York City

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Margaret Truman, who wants a career of her own, has taken an apartment in New York.

The President's daughter, who will be 23 on Feb. 17, has found a place where she can continue her vocal lessons, preparatory to a professional contract, and be hostess in her own right.

She is studying with her longtime teacher, Mrs. J. T. Strickler, Kansas City, Mo., who is living with her.

Without fanfare, poised and level-headed, conservative in action and appearance, Margaret has broken precedent for first daughters of the land as did Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for first ladies when she gave the Associated Press an interview on the day the late President Roosevelt was first inaugurated in 1933 and later wrote, lectured, and spoke on the radio.

Each felt the need to express herself, to be a personality in her own right and not let the tail iron gates of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue close her in.

The blonde, blue-eyed Margaret has asked that her apartment address be withheld that she might have privacy. Her personal friends will know it.

Unaffected and friendly, she is handling her role with dignity. She seems unimpressed by the White House background and determined, her friends say, that no capitalization of it be made in her career. She wants to win on her own.

There was a hint at a recent White House news conference, held by Mrs. James Helm, social secretary, that when Margaret signs a contract in opera, radio or for a recital, it will be announced—thus indicating perhaps that she is considering offers.

Whatever her decision is, Margaret can count on her parents' blessing, their presence by the radio or perhaps in the front row for her debut. Mrs. Truman has said she wants Margaret to have a career if she wants one, and the form it takes is to be Margaret's own decision.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

Police Patrolman and Mrs. Stanley Borowy, 1141 Center avenue, 15 years. Mrs. Borowy was the former Miss Anna Guntick.

Tomorrow

Mr. and Mrs. John Berkey Sr., Parkerford, 52 years.

Lithe, Petal-Shaped Fullness, Distinctive Feature of Lucien LeLong's New Collection

PARIS, Feb. 7 (AP)—Lithe, petal-shaped fullness was the distinctive feature of Lucien LeLong's new collection, which marked the second day of Paris Spring Fashion Shows today.

The "Fichu" theme, draped along broad "Bateau" décolletés, now low cut, but reaching from shoulder to shoulder, was the outstanding novelty around neck lines.

Sharply contrasting with the close wrap-around line shown yesterday by Robert Piguet, LeLong's new afternoon and dinner gowns all have extremely supple skirts, with wide bias panels and jets of tissue issuing from the tight waistline, and thrown over a stem-like fourreau. Some of these panels are caught up again in the neckline, giving a rather Turkish-styled effect of fullness all around.

Bell-shaped skirts gave a very youthful, easy look to neat overcoats, with strictly tailored bodices. Shoulders are on the mild side, with very light padding, and just the natural length. Skirts have distinctly grown. Some dinner frocks reach right down to the ankle.

These short evening models usually have a rather low cut, rounded décolleté, front and back. Low cut in the back, too, are one or two very short dinner jackets, with a just slight drape in front.

Short sleeves are the mode all around. And much interest is concentrated about the shoulder lines: Rolled-in collars, small supple revers, draped fichus.

Favorite color: Blue, and Navy blue.

Very short jackets, very close to the waist, giving a brisk, free look, were a markedly new note in the collection.

Grand evening dresses, still showing the generous, no-strap décolleté, used as lavishness of tulle and muslins of very pale hues, with extremely light touches of iridescent sparkles.

Easy, sprightly, entrancing, extremely becoming, LeLong's new models are especially designed to make the woman who wears them feel graceful.

Fruits combine with peanut butter to make delicious sandwich fillings. Try peanut butter with apple sauce, crushed pineapple, sliced or mashed bananas, or chopped stewed apricots or prunes. Peanut butter teams up deliciously with chocolate, malt, or olives. Accent the natural peanut flavor with pickles, cloves, vanilla or spices.

The tangerine harvest for the current season, an estimated 5.2 million boxes, is expected to be the greatest ever.

For every person who tills the soil there is at least one other person who makes his living by processing, wholesaling, transporting, and retailing agricultural products.

After the business meeting two readings were given by Mrs. William Van Schaick.

Technicolor slides of the beautiful dogwood and lilacs on the Gruber estate; of the Bellewood Horse Show, gorgeous sunsets near the equator and Manila, and slides of Japan, Okinawa, and the Philippine Islands were shown by Mr. Robert Brown, Kenilworth, who also compared the home life and farm life of Japan and the United States.

Miss Margaret Milligan won first honors for her unique floral arrangement of a strawberry begonia in a Florida shell with a praying Mexican standing beside it. Mrs. Maurice Mosheim won second honors for her lovely arrangement of forsythia, ivy and pine.

'Leadership' Discussed By Kenilworth PTA Group

The Rev. Lloyd J. Sandt spoke on the topic "Need for Leadership" at a meeting of the Kenilworth PTA, Thursday night in the school building.

A playlet "Light for Tomorrow" was presented by Mrs. Charles Rosewarne, representing the parent; Mrs. Neal Kniffen, the teacher; Mr. Leo Pickar, the community, and the children, Dorothy Rosewarne, Kenneth Bealer, Barbara Rothenberger, Carol Lee Pickar, Gordon Wampler.

A vocal duet was rendered by Anna Mae Given and Nancy Whiteco, and a xylophone solo by Carey Shaner. Accompaniments were by Mrs. Rubin Undergrove.

At the business session over which Mr. Lester Rock, vice-president, presided, it was announced there would be a covered dish supper and square dance, February 15 at 6:30 p. m. The Ways and Means committee are planning an auction social to be held March 6.

Mrs. Harold Bealer, who was hostess for the evening, led the devotions.

At the close of the meeting, two large birthday cakes, commemorating the 50th anniversary of Founders Day, were served.

Margaret Truman Takes Apartment in New York City

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Margaret Truman, who wants a career of her own, has taken an apartment in New York.

The President's daughter, who will be 23 on Feb. 17, has found a place where she can continue her vocal lessons, preparatory to a professional contract, and be hostess in her own right.

She is studying with her longtime teacher, Mrs. J. T. Strickler, Kansas City, Mo., who is living with her.

Without fanfare, poised and level-headed, conservative in action and appearance, Margaret has broken precedent for first daughters of the land as did Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for first ladies when she gave the Associated Press an interview on the day the late President Roosevelt was first inaugurated in 1933 and later wrote, lectured, and spoke on the radio.

Each felt the need to express herself, to be a personality in her own right and not let the tall iron gates of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue close her in.

The blonde, blue-eyed Margaret has asked that her apartment address be withheld that she might have privacy. Her personal friends will know it.

Unaffected and friendly, she is handling her role with dignity. She seems unimpressed by the White House background and determined, her friends say, that no capitalization of it be made in her career. She wants to win on her own.

There was a hint at a recent White House news conference, held by Mrs. James Helm, social secretary, that when Margaret signs a contract in opera, radio or for a recital, it will be announced—thus indicating perhaps that she is considering offers.

Whatever her decision is, Margaret can count on her parents' blessing, their presence by the radio or perhaps in the front row for her debut. Mrs. Truman has said she wants Margaret to have a career if she wants one, and the form it takes is to be Margaret's own decision.

Lithe, Petal-Shaped Fullness, Distinctive Feature of Lucien LeLong's New Collection

PARIS, Feb. 7 (AP)—Lithe, petal-shaped fullness was the distinctive feature of Lucien LeLong's new collection, which marked the second day of Paris Spring Fashion Shows today.

The "Fichu" theme, draped along broad "Bateau" décolletés, now low cut, but reaching from shoulder to shoulder, was the outstanding novelty around neck lines.

Sharply contrasting with the close wrap-around line shown yesterday by Robert Piguet, LeLong's new afternoon and dinner gowns all have extremely supple skirts, with wide bias panels and jets of tissue issuing from the tight waistline, and thrown over a stem-like fourreau. Some of these panels are caught up again in the hemline, giving a rather Turkish-styled effect of fullness all around.

Bell-shaped skirts gave a very youthful, easy look to neat overcoats, with strictly tailored bodices. Shoulders are on the mild side, with very light padding, and just the natural length. Skirts have distinctly grown. Some dinner frocks reach right down to the ankle.

These short evening models usually have a rather low cut, rounded décolleté, front and back. Low cut in the back, too, are one or two very short dinner jackets, with a just slight drape in front.

Short sleeves are the mode all around. And much interest is concentrated about the shoulder lines: Rolled-in collars, small supple revers, draped fichus.

Favorite color: Blue, and Navy blue.

Very short jackets, very close to the waist, giving a brisk, free look, were a markedly new note in the collection.

Grand evening dresses, still showing the generous, no-strap décolleté, used as lavishment of tulle and muslins of very pale hues, with extremely light touches of iridescent spangles.

Easy, sprightly, entrancing, extremely becoming, LeLong's new models are especially designed to make the woman who wears them feel graceful.

Fruits combine with peanut butter to make delicious sandwich fillings. Try peanut butter with apple sauce, crushed pineapple, sliced or mashed bananas, or chopped stewed apricots or prunes. Peanut butter teams up deliciously with chocolate, malt, or olives. Accent the natural peanut flavor with pickles, cloves, vanilla or spices.

The tangerine harvest for the current season, an estimated 5.2 million boxes, is expected to be the greatest ever.

For every person who tills the soil there is at least one other person who makes his living by processing, wholesaling, transporting, and retailing agricultural products.

POTTSTOWN HAS EASY TIME WITH WARRIORS

Stan Stolar Leads Trojans to 88-42 Section III Win

BOB RIEGNER
(Mercury Sports Editor)

Dame Fortune dealt the Trojans a Royal Flush last night. Playing with a brilliancy surpassed by no other court combine to perform on the North End palestra, the Men of Troy rang up an all time scoring record as they completely humiliated the West Chester High courtmen, 88-42.

The assembled throng of 1000 fans couldn't get enough of this terrific scoring exhibition by the local quintet as they continually cried for more fuel to be added to the already raging inferno that was consuming the cords of the Pottstown hoop.

Coach Andy DeFazio's Warriors, who had been playing good ball and had chalked up three straight victories over Phoenixville, Downingtown and Berwyn, were completely taken by surprise when the Trojans carried the fight to them, repeatedly bottling up the Chester county aggregation in the back court.

Never doubting their superiority, the Trojans went about their business with grim determination, confident that this game was not going to be a replica of the struggle at West Chester which saw the locals come through with seven points in the final minute to win, 40-34.

For Coach Ed Good, this contest was the fulfillment of any coach's fondest dream — a ball game in which every member of his team had an "on" night.

The Trojans clicked as a unit which was perhaps the biggest factor contributing toward this glorious victory. With nearly every member of the starting five hitting the double column in the scorebook, the emphasis was still placed on teamwork as the boys repeatedly handed out accurate passes to a teammate, being satisfied with an assist while the other boy dropped in the field goal.

Picking up momentum with every fleeting second, what opened as a usual game at 3-1 was suddenly turned into a one sided affair as the Trojans shot 'em in from all angles as they picked West Chester's every defense virtually to ribbons in the first period as they ran up a very comfortable lead at the end of the initial eight minutes of play, 24-5.

From that time on, the Warriors didn't know what was happening as the Trojans continued to set the blistering pace in the second period. With Claude Reinhart and Stan Stolar leading the way, Pottstown chalked up 23 points in the second period and moved into a 47-18 lead at intermission and the ball game was over except that the teams had to play another half.

Coming back in the second half, the Trojans didn't let up for a moment, as they continued their accurate shooting tactics and found the hoop for 22 points to grab a 69-30 lead at the three period mark. The highest score for a Pottstown High team in one game was 68 points prior to last night's shindig and the Trojans bettered that mark in three periods.

Good then inserted his second stringers at the start of the fourth period, and as may be expected, they couldn't keep up the terrific pace set by the regulars in the first three periods.

The crowd began to scream for the first team and with three minutes to play, the Trojan mentor inserted his regulars as the score stood at 75-38 at the time.

The first stringers went to work and tabbed 13 points in the final three minutes as the fans were pleading for 90. The boys, too, it seems, were out for 90 points but tightened up and missed six foul tries in the last minutes and had to be content with their 46 point margin.

Stan Stolar became the second Trojan this season to record 24 points as he played probably the best game of his career. Old reliable Claude Reinhart came through with 19 counters while Bobby Marx chipped in with 14 and Dave Deter had 10. Bobby Russell and Tom Weber had nine and eight points respectively. Vic Bruno, West Chester center led the losers with 16 counters.

In other league frays, Coatsville defeated Berwyn, 35-32 while Phoenixville defeated Downingtown, 39-26.

WEST CHESTER FALLS UNDER BABY TROJANS

Coach Bill McCabe's Baby Trojans of Pottstown High school registered their seventh straight victory in Section Three last night by turning back West Chester's reserves by a 33-16 score in a game played on the junior high court.

Brover Yerger again paced the Baby Trojans to victory as he collected eight points and played a brilliant all around ball game. Danny Ludwig followed Yerger in the scoring column with seven points and three others chipped in with four.

The locals didn't wait for anyone to coax them in the first period and took an eight point lead which they increased to an 18-6 advantage before the half ended.

West Chester started to play better ball in the third stanza and outscored the locals, 7-6, but McCabe's charges came back in the fourth frame to ice the decision by tabbing nine points to the visitors' three.

Don Riccardo was the outstanding West Chester player on the court. Riccardo managed to tab five points against the Baby Trojans and handed out beautiful passes and played a brilliant defensive game. Tom Monaghan was runnerup to Riccardo in the scoring with four points.

Golden Cubs End Nine Game Losing Streak

Pottstown Junior High's Golden Cubs brought to a close a nine game losing streak yesterday afternoon by handing Memorial Junior High of Phoenixville a 29-12 setback at Phoenixville.

The first period was nip and tuck all the way through with both teams tabbing six points. The Cubs, however, pulled away into the lead early in the second frame and sported a 14-8 advantage when the half ended.

Phoenixville came back to hold the Cubs scoreless in the third stanza and managed to score three points to cut the lead a little but Coach Howard Horrocks' charges came back for 15 points in the final stanza to clinch the tussle.

In the preliminary contest, the Pottstown junior varsity team dropped a 15-13 thriller to Phoenixville's reserves. The Baby Cubs took a two point lead in the first period and managed to hold on for a one point advantage at halftime. The home team came back to knot the score in the third frame and then rallied to cop the victory in the final quarter.

Practice Pays Off

It just goes to show you what practice can do for a basketball team. Shown above are members of the Pottstown High school girls' team during a recent practice session. The practice helped the local lassies as they turned back West Chester's sextet, 41-26, yesterday on the high school court. Reaching with outstretched arms for the ball is Helen Gabal while Edith Dunning (extreme right) waits for the sphere to come through the basket.

TROJAN MERMEN LOSE, 45-21, TO LANCASTER TEAM

Bobby Hartenstein, turning in his best time in the 100-yard free style event, was the only member of Coach Cy Yocom's Pottstown High swimming team who was able to take a first place yesterday afternoon as the Trojans dropped a 45-21 meet to McCaskey High of Lancaster at Lancaster.

Hartenstein swam the 100 yards in 59.4 seconds yesterday to beat Ed Doman of Lancaster. Hartenstein's best time prior to yesterday's meet was 59.8 seconds.

The Trojans collected their other points by taking three second and three third and also a first place tie. Harold Regel tied Tim Hambright for first place in the 100 yard back stroke event which gave the Trojans four points.

Trojan swimmers who finished second were Irvin Stout in the 100 yard breast and Tommy Allen in the 200 yard free style and fancy diving. Jim McDevitt finished third in the 50 yard free style. Paul Neuschwander did the same in the 100 yard free style and Jack Kirk collected a third in the fancy diving to round out the Trojans winners.

The Trojans after taking every first place in the past two matches, didn't seem to be at home in the Lancaster pool but the McCaskey High mermen found the locals hard to beat.

In other league games played last night, Boyertown handed Oley High a 44-25 setback and Amity jolted Kutztown, 28-20.

Coach Bob Fleming's Boyertown Bears took an early lead in its game with Oley and managed to stay in front throughout the entire ball game.

The Bears took a four point lead in the first period and at halftime were sporting a 21-7 advantage. The Oley combine started to come back in the second half but Boyertown had little trouble and coasted in for the win.

Amity remained in a tie for second place with Bears by staging a second half rally to defeat Kutztown, 28-20. Kutztown took the lead in the first stanza and held a slim 11-10 advantage at the half. Amity came back to go ahead in the third frame and then played steady ball in the final frame to clinch the tilt.

Pottstown High's Lassies Dump West Chester, 41-26

Coach A. Edna Hutt's lassies from Pottstown High school downed West Chester High's sextet, 41-26, yesterday afternoon in a game played on the local high school court.

Paced by Janet Garner who tabbed 21 points via field goals and one foul, the Trojans feds pulled away into a 23-14 halftime lead after trailing the West Chester cagers, 10-9, in the first period.

The Pottstown team added 10 more counters in the third stanza while holding the visitors to three to increase the advantage to 33-17 when the third quarter came to a close. West Chester started to rally in the fourth stanza and tallied nine markers before the final whistle blew.

Following Garner in the scoring race was Doris Erb with five goals from the field and one foul for an 11 point total. Jane Stonewall was tops for West Chester with eight points.

In the junior varsity contest, West Chester's fair sex turned back Pottstown reserves by a 55-25 score. The visitors were held to a one point lead in the first period but pulled away with comfortable margin in the second stanza and then coasted to the victory.

Educators Favor Higher Teacher Pay If State Government Fools Extra Bill

HARRISBURG Feb. 7 (P)—The Pennsylvania School Directors' association adopted a resolution today endorsing higher pay for teachers if the Commonwealth bears the additional cost.

At the same time, the organization declined to recommend "a definite source" of income to meet the boosts and other increased school costs, asserting in a resolution it does not have "sufficient knowledge of taxation at this time."

The resolutions adopted at the close of the association's 51st annual convention, came on the heels of a declaration by Governor Duff that better teachers' salaries is not "entirely the responsibility" of the State government.

If local government insists on coming to central government for more and more funds, he told the school directors last night, the inevitable result will be a progressive loss of independence as "the central government will insist on more control."

City officers elected by the association were Mrs. Ruth R. Robb, Latrobe, president; Bert L. Lobb, Clarks Summit, E. W.

Painter, Forest Hills, and Frank E. Snyder, Liberty, vice presidents, and Fred O. Van Ness, Harrisburg, secretary-treasurer.

Named as regional directors were O. H. Heckathorn, North Sewickley Township, Beaver county; Howard C. Ott, Muncy; The Rev. Elias H. Phillips, Lower Paxton Township, Dauphin county; Dr. A. J. Schroeder, Reading; A. O. Ohlson, Sharon Hill; and H. B. Kirkpatrick, Pottstown.

Other resolutions adopted asked that:

The school subsidies law be amended to recognize as units of instruction principals, school nurses, dental hygienists, music and art instructors, physical education instructors and teachers of special subjects.

The same law be revised to provide that teaching unit appropriations shall not be less in 1947-48 and 1948-49 than was received in 1945-46.

The cost of adult education be assumed by the State.

School directors be elected on a non-partisan basis.

Exemption of annuities up to $1500 of teachers from Federal income tax.

The teacher tenure law be amended to increase the probation period for new teacher to three years.

The legislature given school boards more authority in terminating contracts of "unsatisfactory" teachers.

New Bridge to Speed Plan For Light Firm's Expansion

NORRISTOWN, Feb. 7.—Plans to expedite the Philadelphia Electric company's expansion program on Barbados island were set into motion yesterday after the war department announced approval of the construction of a bridge linking the island and Norristown.

The electric company announced that construction will start at once. The Norristown borough council had previously authorized the regrading of Haws avenue for a bridge approach.

The bridge, scheduled to be completed this summer, will improve the means of access to the plant for operating and construction forces as well as for materials and supplies.

The plant, when completed, will serve electric needs to about 500,000 homes in this area.

Flying of a flag with the union down is a signal of distress.

IN MEMORIAM

PORTER—In loving memory of J. William Porter, who passed away Feb. 9, 1947. Remembrance is a golden chain. That time can never sever.

WIFE and SON

KLING—In loving memory of a dear Mother and Wife, Mary E. Kling, who passed away Feb. 5, 1947. Peacefully sleeping, resting at last. The weary troubles and trials are past. In silence she suffered, in patience she bore. Till God called her home to suffer no more.

Sadly missed by her HUSBAND and CHILDREN

MARCH—In loving memory of our beloved Son, PFC Paul M. March, who was killed in action in Germany on February 8, 1945. Paul, darling, we miss you more and more every day. You are only away from our son and brother. Go to a land far beyond waiting for us. We are hoping in the place you have gone. Smiling down from heaven. We in your shining brown eyes. Saying to us don't cry. Mother, Dad, Sisters and Brother. I am happy here with my God. Sad, missed and dearly loved. B. V. March, Dad, Sisters & Brother.

MARCH—In loving memory of my dear Husband and Dad, PFC Paul M. March, who was killed in action in Germany Feb. 8, 1945. Sad and sudden was the call. Of one so dear and loved by all. His loving heart had ceased to beat. Before we knew it he was gone. A bitter grief, a shock severe. To part with one we loved so dear. God loved him, too and thought it best. So he took him home to eternal rest. But only those who loved him best can tell. Those heartaches of not saying a last farewell. Sadly missed by Wife IDA and Daughter DOROTHY MAY.

Educators Favor Higher Teacher Pay If State Government Fools Extra Bill

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Pennsylvania School Directors' association adopted a resolution today endorsing higher pay for teachers if the Commonwealth bears the additional cost.

At the same time, the organization declined to recommend "a definite source" of income to meet the boosts and other increased school costs, asserting in a resolution it does not have "sufficient knowledge of taxation at this time."

The resolutions, adopted at the close of the association's 51st annual convention, came on the heels of a declaration by Governor Duff that better teachers' salaries is not "entirely the responsibility" of the State government.

If local government insists on coming to central government for more and more funds, he told the school directors last night, the inevitable result will be a progressive loss of independence as "the central government will insist on more control."

New officers elected by the association were Mrs. Ruth E. Robb, Latrobe, president; Bert L. Liles, Clarks Summit, E. W.

New Bridge to Speed Plan For Light Firm's Expansion

NORRISTOWN, Feb. 7—Plans to expedite the Philadelphia Electric company's expansion program on Barbados island were set into motion yesterday after the war department announced approval of the construction of a bridge linking the island and Norristown.

The electric company announced that construction will start at once. The Norristown borough council had previously authorized the regrading of Haws avenue for a bridge approach.

The bridge, scheduled to be completed this Summer, will improve the means of access to the plant for operating and construction forces as well as for materials and supplies.

The plant, when completed, will service electric needs to about 500-000 homes in this area.

Flying a flag with the union down is a signal of distress.

All Aboard—1967! Pair Tosses Guitar Through Window
A guitar, broken beyond repair, was in police possession last night together with two youths who, tired of strumming it while walking along Queen street at about 7 o'clock last night, allegedly threw it through the window of a house owned by Eugene Rhoads, of 943 Queen street.
The youths are Clarence Weidner, 22, of 734 Walnut street; and Leonard E. Fizz Jr., 19, of 735 Walnut street.
According to police, a call from Mr. Foreman, of 1038 South street, senior Sergeant Daniel J. Linton and Motor Patrolman Lewis Borgie after two young men whom she reported to have torn down the gate from in front of her house.
Before the youths could be apprehended, however, they had turned up Queen street, serenading as they walked, and had thrown the guitar through Rhoads' window.
Rhoads swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley last night, charging the youths with drunk and disorderly conduct. They were both held under $25 bail until a hearing at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

STASSEN SEEKS
Stassen defended industry-wide bargaining. He said it prevented employers in the same industry from competing with each other for lower wages.
"I assume from your statement," said Stassen, "that you would have Congress repeal and have no effective legislation to deal with the monopoly situations in the steel and coal industries, where one union controls all the workers."

RABBITS LIBERATED

Pumper Test to Be Held Behind Vaughan Mills
The underwriters' test for the new pumper of the Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company will be held at the rear of the Vaughan Mills, instead of on the Manatony creek bridge, it was announced last night.
The reason for the switch, it was reported, was that the bridge would not hold the weight for a sustained period.
The test will be at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Pair Tosses Guitar Through Window

A guitar, broken beyond repair, was in police possession last night together with two youths who, tired of strumming it while walking along Queen street at about 7 o'clock last night, allegedly threw it through the window of a house owned by Eugene Rhoads, of 943 Queen street.

The youths are Clarence Weidner, 22, of 734 Walnut street and Leonard E. Fizz Jr., 19, of 755 Walnut street.

According to police, a call from Mrs. Foreman, of 1039 South street, sent Sergeant Daniel J. Linton and Motor Patrolman Lewis Borgiet after two young men whom she reported to have torn down the gate from in front of her house.

Before the youths could be apprehended, however, they had turned up Queen street, serenading as they walked, and had thrown the guitar through Rhoads' window.

Rhoads swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley last night, charging the youths with drunk and disorderly conduct. They were both held under $25 bail until a hearing at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Stassen defended industry-wide bargaining. He said it prevented employers in the same industry from competing with each other for lower wages.

"I assume from your statement," said Ball, "that you would have Congress recess and leave no effective legislation to deal with the monopoly situations in the steel and coal industries, where one union controls all the workers."

ing admission of 100,000 Jewish immigrants.

The Jews, who have refused to participate in the current Palestine conference want to settle more than 1,000,000 Jews in the Holy Land in the near future. The Jewish population is now 600,000.

Britain's proposals were said to envisage an amended "Morrison plan" under which control over immigration would be vested in a central administration. The Morrison plan called for dividing Palestine into Arab and Jewish provinces with limited powers, "neutral" Jerusalem, and a British zone in the strategic Nageb desert.

Pumper Test to Be Held

Behind Vaughan Mills

The underwriters' test for the new pumper of the Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company will be held at the rear of the Vaughan Knitting Mills instead of on the Manatwamy creek bridge, it was announced last night.

The reason for the switch, it was reported, was that the bridge would not hold the weight for a sustained period.

The test will be at 1 o'clock this afternoon.
